URBAN LIFE

GRILLS

Product book

A photograph of a dirt path winding through a dense forest of tall, thin trees. The path is covered in fallen leaves and branches, and the forest floor is lush with green moss and ferns. The lighting is soft and dappled, creating a serene atmosphere. The text is overlaid on the upper half of the image.

A reversal is afoot!

We are discovering that our relationship to nature is damaging our health and wellbeing. The trend to exclude nature from our surroundings, to tame it to our will, is reversing. We are rediscovering how important it is to live in harmony with nature.

At its core, Yagoona is about nature. About how to work with nature to craft it into our gardens, onto our patios, parks and playgrounds. Create places where wild animals, native plants, and insects are invited, not fenced off, excluded. Banished.

A space, your space, where you and nature come together

Re-orienting yourself back toward a natural path is vital for your harmonious and healthy existence.

We at Yagoona are passionate about creating objects for beautiful natural gardens. Gardens that invite you to join with the natural world around you, with objects that bring all the comforts and conveniences you need.

Ringgrill

The trend of “Ring” grilling is catching everyone's imagination. The idea of social cooking around an open fire is bringing us back from the complex and featuring packed gas grills that are everywhere. With the Ringgrill, people are rediscovering the simplicity of grilling.

The Yagoona Ringgrill is arguably the genesis design for grilling rings. Designed and released in 2010 and sold only within Switzerland for the first years, its reputation spread fast, till today it is one of the most beloved wood fire grills on the market.

The Yagoona Ringgrill is still the only one to have refined the split ring design, correcting for the most glaring drawback of the classic grilling rings: plate warp, and poor air circulation.

A perfectly flat grilling surface is what we expect from a good grill design. Our split ring design prevents the torsion from the way heat builds up in the ring. This warps simple, one piece rings. The elegant and simple solution also incorporates an air gap all around the ring to promote healthy air flow to the fire.

Other features such as integration with the Barramundi BBQ and the Universal Grill storage solution from Yagoona which neatly stores all your grills when not in use, are thrown in for good measure. Exactly what you would expect from careful design, and 10 years of experience.

Fire pits

The range of firepits from Yagoona are a great way to add the alluring feature of open fire in your garden. They are also the basis of the overall grill sets available. All firepits are delivered as 2 parts. The pit and the base. The pit simply rests on top of the base making it easy to move the pit wherever you want it. The pit can also be easily adjusted on the base to make the edge perfectly level. This is important for use with the Ringgrill.

80cm firepits

Most people find the 80cm firepit size as idea for the private garden. They are small enough not to overwhelm the rest of your garden design, but still large enough to bring a nice and inviting fire into your garden.

These firpits are compatible with the following grills: 1208, 1209, 1002

100cm firepits

The 100cm firepits are for the larger garden area. They are bold, big and beautiful and when combined with a Ringgrill, can cater to dozens of people.

These firpits are compatible with the following grills: 1212, 1213, 1002

A Clean Business

We care passionately about nature and the environment we live in. Wood fire grilling may not strike you as a green activity, but people love to grill, and people must eat, and when measured against the others fuels, wood fire is, in fact the best fuel for grills with respect to the environment. When looking at gas or charcoal which either travel a long way and-or require extensive pre-production before they can be used in your grill, there really is no cleaner way to grill. We are assuming you will use locally sourced wood that is responsibly harvested, and naturally air dried. To add to the green credentials, disposing of your ash in your garden or compost will contribute to the organic quality of the soil around you.

From the other side, we care deeply about the production process, and strive to make it as clean and efficient as possible. Yagoona, tries to the greatest extent possible to choose responsible manufacturing and logistics partners. We prefer companies with strong environmental protections in place, and refine our designs with them, not only achieve our signature design style, and the highest quality and longevity possible, but to overlap this with the cleanest production result for each Yagoona product.

These are challenging goals we have set for ourselves, so we place a high priority on always seeking out the best partners for Yagoona. Ones that are proud to pursue the same goals as we do. If our philosophy resonates with you, reach out to us and let us know. We would love to hear from you.

Accessories

The Yagoona range of grills and fire pits come with a smart array of tools and accessories which make grilling easier and safer. We strive to make these accessories as versatile and useful as possible while keeping with the overall Yagoona tough no nonsense design approach.
